APPENDIX C – TARIFF DIFFERENTIALS UNITED STATES

1. For an originating good identified below in Table 2-D-X, if the United States applies different preferential tariff treatment to other Parties for that originating good in accordance with this Schedule, the United States shall apply the rate of customs duty for the originating good of the Party:

- (a) where the good is wholly obtained, either in that Party or in that Party and the United States;
- (b) where the good is produced entirely, exclusively from originating materials, excluding any materials produced in another Party other than the United States;
- (c) where the good is produced entirely, from originating materials, excluding any materials produced in another Party other than the United States, and from non-originating materials that have met the relevant product specific rule in the Annex 3-D (Product Specific Rules of Origin); or
- (d) where the good is produced from originating materials produced in Parties other than that Party or the United States, provided that each of those materials satisfies the applicable change in tariff classification requirement set out in Table 2-D-X.

2. If the originating good is produced in a Party from originating materials produced in Parties other than that Party or the United States and any of those materials do not satisfy the applicable change in tariff classification requirement in Table 2-D-X, an importer may:

- (a) claim the highest rate of customs duty for the originating good among the Parties where those originating materials were produced; or
- (b) in accordance with paragraph 10 of Annex 2-D, claim the highest rate of customs duty applicable to all Parties for the originating good.

Tariff schedules and appendices are subject to legal review, transposition and verification by the Parties. The only authentic tariff commitments are those that are set out in the Tariff Elimination Annex that accompanies the final, signed Agreement.
